Old Amersham

HISTORY OF THE MARKET HALL

Sir William Drake, Knight, MP for Amersham built his glorious new "Market Howse" widely admired as "a very neat Town Howse or Market Howse which is handsomest in the County, the building being of brick".

By an Indenture of 20th October 1682, Sir William leased to nine good men and true of Amersham "all that howse and the appurtenances commonly cald or known by the name of Markethowse and alsoe the pile of buildings cald the Butchers Shambles ... together with the free liberty to set up upon the Market days ... Stalls, pennes and coopes for tradesmen and cattell". The first year's rent was "one peppercorn only, as an encouragement in procuring an increase in the said Market". The remaining nine years of the lease required a rent of £14 per annum plus "two couples of fat capons on each St. Thomas Day". Sir William reserved the right to use any Market Howse room for "publik busines", to the continuing benefit of Amersham.

The weekly market ceased in the last century, though the people of Amersham continued to ring the Market Bell on Tuesday at noon until the last war, and stalls still open for business in the lower part on Tuesdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

Over 300 years any meeting of import for the whole community was held here - Trade Guilds, School Classes, Law Courts, Penny Readings, political meetings, exhibitions, concerts, Magic Lantern shows, balls and 6d hops, and an Army Sergeant's recruiting base for the young men of Amersham joining Kitchener's Army in 1914.

On 4th January 1895, Amersham Parish Council's first meeting was held in the upper room and Captain T H Tyrwhitt Drake of Little Shareldoes was elected Chairman.

The hall was restored in 1911 and in 1961 the Drake family handed over this much-loved public building to the Amersham Rural District Council and subsequently it was transferred by Deed to Amersham Town Council. The hall was completely refurbished in 1993 and particular attention was paid to preserve the character of this historic building.
